Why 2022 will be THE year for sustainable coffee

"The search volume for sustainable coffee increased by 23% in 2021" - Google

With the apparent increase in consumer demand for high quality, reliable information about the origins and production conditions of their favorite hot drink, coffee roasters and producers around the world are facing new challenges, but also opportunities.

How can you 1) get involved to make coffee more climate friendly and 2) share your efforts and achievements with your consumers?

The newly developed 4C Carbon Footprint Add-On provides a solution for both.

On top of the core 4C certification, which provides well-established traceable and transparent standards for environmental and social aspects, 4C creates voluntary Add-Ons for its system users who strive to be market leaders in sustainability, equality and social justice.

After successfully introducing the 4C Food Security and 4C Gender Equality Add-Ons, we launch our new 4C Carbon Footprint Add-On today.
